The Washington Admission Bill Again Discussed.

DOLPH ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Notes of Interest to Oregon and Washington
Charges against Pension Commissioner Black
—Washington Notes.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The bill appropriating half a million dollars to erect a monument to the memory of Abraham Lincoln at Washington passed.

Hale made a few remarks in reference to the resolution some time since introduced by him providing for consideration of executive business in open session. This resolution has been adversely reported by the committee on rules. Hale [illegible] that as a point of order it might be made on the resolution that it changed the rules without notice. He would on Monday next propose an amendment to the resolution, specifying the particular rule of the senate which he proposes to have amended by resolution.

At the suggestion of Logan an understanding was secured by which his army bill will be taken up Monday next immediately after morning business and its consideration continued through the day, and if necessary from day to day till disposed of.

Hale consented that the Washington territory bill might be informally laid aside in order to permit [illegible] action on the army bill, but reminded him that the Washington bill should not lose its right of way.

THE WASHINGTON TERRITORY BILL.

The hour of 2 o'clock arriving, the Washington territory bill was laid before the senate and Dolph resumed the floor and continued his remarks in favor of the admission of the territory. He said if it was admitted it would soon become one of the most important states of the republic.

Morgan supported the bill. He said he was informed by Senator Stanford that a line of British steamers was now advertised for regular fortnightly trips between British Columbia and Hong Kong. We should, he said, be a competitor with Great Britain for the commerce of the Pacific ocean.

Frye said the senator from California (Stanford) ought also to have informed Morgan that Great Britain did not pay that line 2 cents a letter for carrying British mails, and did not have a postmaster general who vetoed an appropriation which would have paid ten.

Morgan admitted that was true. He was sorry people could not agree, but there would be no difficulty in agreeing about Washington territory.

Committee amendments to the bill were then voted on seriatim and agreed to.

Dolph moved an amendment, which was agreed to, exempting from the provision that required school lands not to be sold for less than $[illegible] an acre certain lands already disposed of for the same purpose at a lower price. Dolph also moved an amendment providing that the counties of Idaho that are to become a part of the state of Washington shall not by the change be released from responsibility for their proportion of the bonded debt of the present territory of Idaho and providing a method for ascertaining the proper proportion. Rejected.

Voorhees submitted as a substitute his bill (last presented (an enabling act) providing for the admission of Montana. This remains the pending question when the bill comes again before the senate.

After an executive session the senate adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The house went into committee of the whole on the labor arbitration bill, general debate to be closed at 4 o'clock.

After a long discussion on the O'Neill labor bill, the committee rose and O'Neill moved that all debate on the first section of the bill be limited to one minute. Pending a vote on O'Neill's motion the house adjourned.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS NOTES.

MONTGOMERY'S CASE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Examiner's Washington special: It is a month ago that Senator Ingalls made his attack in the senate on Assistant Attorney General Zach Montgomery, and not a word has been said in regard to Montgomery's confirmation since. It is said, however, that he is certain to be confirmed when his name is reached. So far as can be learned, there is no objection to Montgomery among democrats of the senate, and they will be joined by Senator Jones of Nevada, Senator Mitchell of Oregon and Senator Van Wyck, and probably others. It is asserted on good authority that Ingalls and Edmunds are aware of the fact, and for this reason have neglected to bring Montgomery's case up for confirmation.

NATIONAL TRADES UNIONS.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Senator Call from the committee on education and labor reported favorably Senator Blair's bill to legalize the incorporation of national trades unions, with amendments by the committee striking out the section making it a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment to prevent or endeavor to prevent any national [illegible] from carrying out its lawful objects, and requiring that the headquarters of an incorporated national trades union shall be in the District of Columbia.

REPORTED FAVORABLY.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Senator Wilson today reported favorably from the committee on post offices his bill to amend the revised statutes of the United States so as to make the penalty for using the mails to circulate obscene or immoral books a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $5000, or imprisonment at hard labor for not less than one year or more than ten years, or both, at the discretion of the courts.

TO ADJUST DEPREDATION CLAIMS.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Senator Cockrell submitted to the senate today a proposed amendment to the Indian appropriation bill authorizing the secretary of the interior to employ not more than five nor less than three competent persons at a salary of $6.50 a day to examine all [illegible] claims for Indian depredations now on file in the Indian bureau, and appropriating $[illegible] to defray the expenses of such examination.

CAUCUS OF REPUBLICAN SENATORS.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Republican senators held a caucus this morning and filled the committee places made vacant by the death of Senator Miller of California. They then proceeded to consider what to do about collectors of internal revenue who are being reported favorably by the senate committee on finance, but reached no conclusion, and will hold a caucus again tomorrow.

TO BE REPORTED FAVORABLY.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The house committee on foreign affairs today agreed to a favorable report on McCreery's bill authorizing the president of the United States to arrange a conference for the purpose of encouraging peaceful and reciprocal commercial relations between the United States of America and the republics of Mexico, Central and South America and the empire of Brazil.

AGAINST WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Mr. Reed's constitutional amendment forbidding citizens to be deprived of the right to vote on account of sex received three votes only in the house judiciary committee this morning, and only one of the three persons casting the favorable votes is pronounced in favor of woman suffrage. An adverse report will be presented tomorrow.

ANTI-CHINESE MEMORIAL.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The memorial from the anti-Chinese convention held at Sacramento a short time ago was for the second time presented to the senate. The document was referred to the committee on foreign affairs.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The attention of Secretary Whitney was today called to a cable report in the London Daily News [illegible] the British government in explanation of the statement printed in New York that British constructors and officers are interested financially in the construction of new vessels to be built for the American navy. The News denies [illegible] statement in New York papers that these vessels were to be designed by a syndicate of which Sir Nathaniel Barnaby, ex-chief constructor of the British navy, and Mr. White, present chief constructor, and the firm of Sir William Armstrong & Co., are the principal members. The secretary said there was no truth in this statement.

PUBLIC DEBT STATEMENT.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Following is a recapitulation of the public debt statement issued today: Interest bearing debt, principal and interest, $[illegible]; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, principal and interest, $[illegible]; debt bearing no interest, principal, $[illegible]; total debt, principal and interest, $[illegible]; total cash items available for reduction of debt, $[illegible]; total debt less available cash items, $[illegible]; net cash in treasury, $[illegible]; debt less cash in treasury April 1, 1886, $[illegible]. Decrease of debt during March, $[illegible]; cash in treasury available for reduction of public debt, $[illegible]; total cash in treasury as shown by treasurer's general account, $[illegible].

CHARGES AGAINST COMMISSIONER BLACK.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Serious charges have been made of collusion and fraud between Commissioner Black and the civil service commission. The allegations are that Black appointed twenty-two democrats as examiners in the pension office out of seventy-seven that he called for; that he obtained the whole list of eligibles, but that he selected his party friends; that he called candidates to Washington who had been recommended by congressmen and party bosses, and had special examinations for them in which the percentage was reduced from 65 to 60. Therefore it is declared that the commission has made the law a delusion and a sham so far as its operations in the pension office are concerned.

THE TELEPHONE INVESTIGATION.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Senator Harris's examination was resumed today by the telephone committee. Witness stated that he had never referred to Garland in connection with the government suit. Mr. Hale called witness' attention to the fact that the supplementary agreement he supposed he had signed seemed to bind all of the stockholders, including Mr. Garland, to use all their influence to secure the institution of government suit and the employment of their lawyers by the government. Witness replied with some surprise that he had no idea that they had committed themselves in that manner. Mr. Garland knew nothing of it. Adjourned.

NOMINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate today: To be brigadier-generals: Col. Thomas H. WASHINGTON, April 1.—"There is a great improvement in the secretary's condition," said Dr. Lincoln tonight. "He was bright and cheerful and able to use his right hand some. Though far from being a well man he is very much better."

DOLPH ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

An Extract from his Speech in Favor of the Admission of Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—In the course of his speech in the senate on the bill to admit Washington territory to the Union Mr. Dolph, speaking of woman suffrage, said: "Mr. President, there is another matter which I consider pertinent to this discussion and of too much importance to be left entirely unnoticed on this occasion. It is something new in our political history. It is full of hope for the women of this country and of the world and full of promise for the future of republican institutions. I refer to the fact that in Washington territory the right of suffrage has been extended to women of proper age. I do not believe the proposition so often asserted that suffrage is a political privilege. It is only a natural right. It is regulated by the constitution and the laws of states, I grant, but it needs no argument. It appears to me to show that the constitution and laws, adopted and enacted by a fragment of the whole body of the people, but binding alike on all, is a usurpation of the power of government. Government is but organized society, whatever its form. It had its origin in the necessities of mankind and is indispensable for the maintenance of civilized society. It is essential to every government that it should represent the supreme power of the state and be capable of subjecting the will of its individual citizens to its order. Such government only can derive its just powers from the consent of the governed, and can be established only under fundamental law which is self-imposed. Every citizen of suitable age and discretion who is to be subject to such government has in my judgment a natural right to participate in its formation. The lamented Lincoln immortalized the expression that ours is a government 'of the people, by the people and for the people,' and yet it is far from that. There can be no government by the people where one half of them are allowed no voice in its organization and control. I regard the struggle going on in this country [illegible] the enfranchisement of women as but a continuation of the great struggle for human liberty which has from the earliest dawn of authentic history convulsed nations, rent kingdoms and drenched battle fields with human blood. I look upon the victories which have been achieved in the cause of women's enfranchisement in Washington territory and elsewhere as the crowning victories of all which have been won in the long continued and still continuing contest between liberty and oppression, and as destined to exert greater influence upon the [illegible] than any achievement on the battle-field in ancient or modern times. Should this bill pass we shall witness the spectacle of a state government founded upon the principles of equality and have one state at last with a truly republican form of government."

OF INTEREST TO THE NORTHWEST.

Good News for Coast Counties—The Washington Admission Bill, Etc.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The appointment of Cabell Breckenridge of Louisville, Ky., to be surveyor general of Washington territory excites great indignation among the few people of that territory who are in this city. Delegate Voorhees says it is unendurable and an outrage; that it is in violation of the national platform, which stated that offices in the territories should be filled by citizens of the territories. Speaker Carlisle some time ago brought Breckenridge forward as a candidate. Carlisle also has a Kentuckian for an important office in the west which the president cannot with any propriety fill with an outsider.

Since the allowance of $3,000 for Coos bay, Congressman Hermann has succeeded in providing for a full survey, plans and estimates for the Siuslaw bay and bar, with a view to a jetty to improve it, the appropriation to be made from the $150,000 contingent fund for surveys; also for a survey, examination and estimates for snagging and [illegible] the Coquille river between Coquille City and Myrtle Point; also for surveys of the Tillamook and Nehalem bays.

The Dolph bill for the admission of Washington territory will undoubtedly pass the senate next week. In the house its fate is uncertain, but there are many men there who think it will be passed by that body. Senator Dolph has had charge of the bill in the senate, [illegible] thorough knowledge of the country has made him the real custodian of the bill in the senate. He began his masterly speech on the bill yesterday and completed it today. It was an exhaustive and [illegible] statement of the wealth, resources and character of the civilization of the territory, all of which [illegible] an incontrovertible argument for the admission of the territory into the Union. Dolph covered the field so thoroughly and satisfactorily that when he finished the senate was ready to pass the bill, but Morgan wanted to speak in favor of the measure, and before the amendments to the bill were all [illegible] the senate adjourned. THE LABOR TROUBLES

The Company Refuses to Take Back All the Strikers.

THE KNIGHTS ISSUE A STATEMENT

They Charge the Company with Insincerity and Say the Strike Must Continue—Lawlessness at Various Points.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—It is by no means certain that either the Knights of Labor on Gould's Southwestern system or those in East St. Louis will go to work today in obedience to any order issued by officers of their assemblies. Chairman Irons has obeyed the instructions of the general executive board by ordering the 9000 knights in his district to resume work, but [illegible] that they shall be taken back [illegible] At a late hour tonight he said he had not sent any telegram announcing any hour for resumption, and refused to explain why. The difficulty in sending back to work the East St. Louis knights comes from local assemblies and not from the executive committees, which [illegible] have ordered them to resume yesterday, but met with a protest from the knights themselves based on individual grievances which they demand shall be adjusted before they seek re-employment. Their executive committees, however, have issued orders so worded as to throw the responsibility of their action [illegible] upon their [illegible] assemblies. So unless their committees [illegible] today and issue [illegible] orders for resumption of work, the general executive committee's [illegible] has not caused the [illegible]

THE NORMAL CONDITION RESUMED.

Notwithstanding the failure of knights on the Missouri Pacific railway to return to work, freight traffic on that road has assumed very near its normal condition. In railroad yards the usual activity has prevailed in marked contrast to the dullness which has existed during the strike. Freight trains were made up preparatory to starting out and placed in position to receive their loads without any attempt at interference from striking knights. The general offices of the company have [illegible] their normal activity incident upon resumption of the freight traffic of the system, and [illegible] the first of the month clerks who were temporarily suspended during the strike resumed work.

AT EAST ST. LOUIS.

Gov. Oglesby and his adjutant general arrived at East St. Louis last evening. Soon after the governor's arrival he received a delegation of Knights who presented their side of the trouble to him. They told the governor that they were willing to resume work when their grievances had been adjusted and deprecated all acts of violence.

Owing to the absence of any definite orders from the executive committee as to the exact time when they shall return to work, the strike of the yardmen and switchmen at East St. Louis still continues, and the strikers have assembled in great numbers this morning in the railroad yards and around the depot, but no serious disturbances are anticipated. The presence of deputy U. S. marshals has a restraining influence upon the more demonstrative members of the crowd, and the efforts of the Wabash road, which is under the control of the U. S. court, to start out freight trains is not interfered with. The knowledge that the governor of the state and adjutant general are watching their every movement in order to determine or not if it shall be necessary to call out the militia also restrains the strikers from violence, and the crowds are [illegible] comparatively orderly.

WILL EXERCISE HIS OWN JUDGMENT.

The executive committee of district assembly No. [illegible], the members of which include Missouri Pacific shopmen and mechanics, appointed a committee to call upon master mechanic Bartlett today to ascertain what men he would re-employ. A member of the committee said this morning that they would demand that all men without exception who struck be re-employed. Bartlett, in reply to the inquiry as to what men he would take back, said he would exercise his own judgment in the matter; that none of those who had destroyed the company's property would be re-employed, and that the number whom he should take back would be determined by the number of men actually needed. Final settlement therefore of the strike on the Missouri Pacific railroad seems as far off as ever, for the executive committee of district assembly No. 101 have determined to appoint no arbitration committee to confer with Hoxie until [illegible] old employes of the company shall be taken back.

The striking knights at Hannibal [illegible] returned to work.

[illegible] who assaulted a Missouri Pacific freight [illegible] because he refused to leave [illegible] the [illegible] from the Knights of Labor [illegible] was fined $10 and costs today at the criminal court. Thomas Hass was fined in the same court $10 and costs for using threatening [illegible] language in addressing a non-striker.

THE STRIKE CONTINUES.

Contrary to the general expectation that the executive committee of district assembly No. 101 would designate the hour of 10 o'clock this morning as the time when the striking knights should return to work, no order to that effect was issued, and at 10 o'clock the strike still continued. None of the strikers have applied this morning to Missouri Pacific officials for work, and they say they will not do so until ordered by their executive committee.

VIOLENCE IN EAST ST. LOUIS.

A coal dealer of this city, relying upon the promises of strikers that efforts by teamsters to raise the coal blockade at East St. Louis would not be interfered with, sent a number of men with their teams to transfer coal from that side of the river. Several strikers, however, made an attack upon the men to prevent them from loading their wagons. The teamsters resisting, a general fight ensued and knives were drawn, but the appearance of several United States marshals caused the strikers to run without having received or inflicted any very serious injury. The teamsters returned [illegible] without the coal, fearing further violence.

AN APPEAL TO THE PUBLIC.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—The following has been issued:

To the Public: As shown by the history of the railroad managers in their treatment of the Knights of Labor, we respectfully submit that in pursuance of order of our general [illegible] we [illegible] sent a committee [illegible] of the several roads offering [illegible] In no instance would they be received or treated with, each official [illegible] refusing them employment. Hoxie has agreed to [illegible] employes to adjust any grievance which may exist, but he refuses personally [illegible] In short, after [illegible] the impression to the world that they are willing to settle, they refuse to settle.

Now we appeal to a candid and suffering public [illegible] the weight of this great [illegible] if we have not been deceived enough. How much is long suffering labor to bear? This great strike would never have been had Hoxie condescended [illegible] our complaints. We [illegible] more than human [illegible] This [illegible] position makes a man king, or slave, and [illegible] on the part of one citizen [illegible] with other citizens with whom he may have business connections, when such refusal begets a great business and social revolution, is not only a mistake but a crime against the public. Gould is invoking the law against little criminals who are made desperate by his policy of duplicity and oppression, and yet the terrorized public does not invoke the law against the arch criminal of the land. If we cannot be allowed to return to work the strike must go on.

By order of the executive board of district assembly 101.

WHY THE ADDRESS WAS ISSUED.

It now develops that under instructions from [illegible] district assembly 101 [illegible] Bartlett [illegible] determined the executive board to issue the address this afternoon and to continue the strike until the roads consent to take back all of the strikers.

Chairman Martin Irons, A. C. Coughlan and [illegible] members of the executive committee, when asked for further information regarding the effect of the appeal upon the situation, refused positively to [illegible] One of the committee men said: "We have a large army at our command [illegible] a desperate fight ahead of us. Therefore we do not propose to expose our plans until they have been perfected."

AN APPEAL FOR TROOPS.

[illegible] today several representative men of the Merchants' Exchange, headed by Dr. [illegible], in favor of the city, called upon Gov. Oglesby [illegible] Speeches were [illegible] setting forth the situation and urging upon [illegible] the necessity of calling out the militia at once to restore order and effect resumption of freight [illegible] The governor replied that while he knew [illegible] authorities of East St. Louis were unable to cope with the situation, the county of St. Clair was large and populous and the powers of the sheriff [illegible] These had not been exhausted, and he [illegible] not call on the military [illegible] However, if he should be actually obliged to bring soldiers here, they would come for active service [illegible] to work [illegible] child's play [illegible]

SENDING OUT TRAINS.

Six freight trains [illegible] the Missouri Pacific and three upon the Iron Mountain road started out of the city today. No police protection was requested by the officers of either road, and no hindrance of any kind was offered by the [illegible] along the road leading out of the city.

At East St. Louis the strikers induced an engineer to abandon his engine on the Vandalia line [illegible] freight train on the Indianapolis & St. Louis [illegible] the engineer refusing to leave his [illegible]

MOB [illegible] AT FORT WORTH.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 1.—Fort Worth is in the hands of a mob. A citizens' posse summoned by the sheriff to escort the first [illegible] at the Missouri [illegible] street here, some 300 strong [illegible] orders. About 400 strikers [illegible] desperate and ready for bloodshed were on the scene. Fifty well armed officers were [illegible] A freight train was made up and a Missouri Pacific engine came along to pull out the train. With a loud rush [illegible] the strikers [illegible] revolvers were presented on all sides. The engine was [illegible] molested [illegible] cars were uncoupled. Some of the knights were arrested and the engine [illegible] to the roundhouse, and all attempts to move trains was abandoned. The citizens lacked organization. They had no leader, while every man in the ranks of the strikers was a leader. Mayor Smith addressed the mob, but the strikers cried "Rats. No more Peter Smith for mayor again." The sheriff is summoning citizens to go armed to-morrow to the Missouri Pacific yards. The strikers [illegible] are all [illegible] The [illegible] are hungry and bloodthirsty, and the most conservative citizens [illegible] law and order.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

PARSONS, Kan., April 1.—Fifteen hundred people gathered [illegible] this morning to witness what was expected to be the last attempt to start trains before resorting to military assistance. A wrecking train was made up to clear the track of wreck caused by the strikers, and it was allowed to start. When it [illegible] however, the strikers promptly killed the engine. No further movement was made, and Adjutant General Campbell requested the governor to order out the militia.

KANSAS CITY, April 1.—The Journal's Topeka special says: Gov. Martin received a dispatch to-night from State Adjutant General Campbell at Parsons, stating that the mob was seemingly in the ascendency there and he could not start trains without aid. The governor therefore authorized the calling out of the First regiment state militia to-morrow morning, and telegraphed Gen. Carroll at Paola to go to Parsons and take command.

AT KANSAS CITY.

KANSAS CITY, April 1.—Though the strikers here have not yet returned to work, Missouri Pacific freight business is progressively more active. The freight depot was reopened to-day and freight is being received as usual. Five freight trains were sent east without guard.

THE HALL GRIEVANCE.

DALLAS, Tex., April 1.—Receiver Sheldon received last night a telegram from Martin Irons asking if he would set all strikers to work in their former places and arbitrate. Sheldon has replied that he cannot set all to work, as it would necessitate discharging men who came to the company in their need. He adds that the discharge of Hall is the only grievance he knows of. He says the facts in Hall's case have been denied by newspapers since the strike commenced, and goes on to say that the proper thing for Hall to do is to appeal to the court for redress. It is proper to arbitrate in such cases, and will give speedy justice to all.

BIG STRIKE OF MINERS.

PITTSBURG, April 1.—Some [illegible] miners on the Baltimore & Ohio railway and its branches went on a strike to-day for a 2½ cent rate on coal, no matter where it is shipped.

AN AGREEMENT REACHED.

PHILADELPHIA, April 1.—The presidents of all the city railways and the arbitration board of the Knights of Labor had an amicable conference to-day and signed an agreement providing for $2 per day and twelve hours for a day's work.

A BIG STRIKE.

LONDON, April 1.—Eleven hundred employes of the Shaw iron works, Lincoln, went out on a strike to-day owing to an announced reduction of [illegible] per cent in wages. Mr. Joseph Ruston, M. P., is the proprietor of the works.

THE FRUIT FAIR.

A Wonderful and Interesting Exhibit from California—A Gala Day Arranged.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Attendance upon the fair in this city comprising an exhibit of California fruit is growing larger daily, and the projectors express themselves greatly pleased at the interest exhibited. Yesterday and to-day the crowds attending have been very large. The display in many ways is unique. In the building are two long rows of [illegible] trees laden with ripe fruit [illegible] of them are rows of tables loaded up to their utmost capacity with fruit. An examination of the trees shows that there are among them orange trees bearing fruit in every stage of development. On the same tree there are large ripe luscious fruit just ready to drop at the slightest touch, fruit just changing its dark green hue for the golden, orange fruit of diminutive size hardly distinguishable from the unburst bud, blossoms which clothe the tree in bloom or are just bursting from their coverings, and buds which have not yet burst into bloom. There are also specimens of lemon trees, olive trees, [illegible] palm, fan palm and bananas. At the end of these rows of trees a large pyramid of fruit, oranges and lemons, has been constructed after the pattern of Washington's monument in Washington. It reaches [illegible] to the roof of the building and is topped with plumes of pampas grass, and is in itself an important and attractive feature of the fair.

THE SANTA ANA VALLEY EXHIBIT.

Knowledge of what the tables contain may be obtained from a close inspection of those containing the Santa Ana valley exhibit. The exhibit of this valley occupies the northwest quarter of the building, and is one of the finest in the building. [illegible] some of the finest oranges in the world shown there. The Washington navel orange, seedless variety, especially attracts attention. Then there are Konahs, Mediterranean Sweets, Mission and Seedling oranges. Of lemons the Genoa, Eureka and Lisbon species are shown. There are also exhibits of limes and apples of both first and second growth. The exhibit also contains a large [illegible] raisins, English walnuts, and such [illegible] fruits as apricots, peaches and apples. An interesting exhibit is that of a sheaf of wild [illegible] oats. Another interesting exhibit in this collection is a section of a trunk of the eucalyptus or blue gum tree. It is twelve years old [illegible] seven inches in diameter. The tree [illegible] was ninety feet in height. Contained in the exhibit from the valley is that of Anaheim, Los Angeles county. On the [illegible] to be seen a number of ostrich eggs. Alongside these are ostrich eggs, and in wonderful [illegible] are humming birds' nests with eggs.

The exhibit of wines, however, is one of the [illegible] ever made in the East.

The management of the fair are arranging for a gala day next week, to be inaugurated by a street procession which will be headed by some of the [illegible] in the exhibition.

RAILROAD NOTES.

[illegible] PRESIDENTS [illegible]

NEW YORK, April 1.—There was a [illegible] of [illegible] the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railways [illegible] C. P. Huntington's. Huntington, when [illegible] about it, said: "We talked over the situation in an amicable way, and several points which [illegible] were explained. I [illegible] not like to say we came to an understanding, or that a settlement is sure, because so many things might occur which could upset the plans, but I think it safe to say there will probably be a settlement within thirty days. I thought we were near a settlement when we had the last meeting, but certain things came into the discussion which prevented it. Our ships carry about 5000 tons of freight measure, which means 4000 dead freight, and perhaps one quarter of this freight was for the [illegible] points [illegible] Texas points where rates were not cut. So we have made money on every vessel that has [illegible] Of course we have lost a great deal [illegible] business, but I would feel that my fifty years' experience was wasted if we could not avoid a fight [illegible] We have to settle details."

THE ATCHISON ROAD'S NEW DEAL.

BOSTON, April 1.—Atchison officials are very reticent regarding the purchase of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe. A prominent insider says the [illegible] with the extension of the Indian territory [illegible] the connecting link between the [illegible] system and the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe. The link will be [illegible] to 60 miles long and [illegible] cost $[illegible]. It gives the Atchison a [illegible] line into Texas with a port of Mexico at [illegible] and puts it in a position to meet the S[illegible] line with water as well as rail competition. President Strong of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe road will go into the Atchison directory.

A director in the Atchison company says the arrangement is hurried so as to place the Atchison in a stronger position in its antagonism to the Southern Pacific in the Transcontinental fight.

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL WAR.

NEW YORK, April 1.—There is a strong [illegible] of the Transcontinental war ending this week. C. P. Huntington, President Houston of the Pacific Mail, and Presidents Adams and Strong of the Union Pacific and Santa Fe roads agree that another meeting will have to be held to arrange rates. So far the Sunset has carried the bulk of freight, as stated in these dispatches. The Southern Pacific intends to claim [illegible] per cent of California business from New York.

GENERAL NEWS.

Great Damage Caused by Floods in the South.

THE BROADWAY FRANCHISE STEAL

An Ex-Alderman Makes a Confession—The Peace of Europe Menaced by Greece—The Situation Considered Very Serious.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 1.—The effects of the freshets are worse than telegraphed yesterday. Gadsden reports the Coosa river at its highest mark and still rising, with alarming reports from above. All railroad bridges of the branch road between Attalla and Gadsden are swept away. [illegible] washouts on the Alabama & Great Southern are reported on both sides of Attalla. The [illegible] of Gadsden suffered [illegible] damage. The Tennessee river is reported out of its banks at several points.

From Tuscaloosa and Warrior advices are serious, though it is believed the worst has passed. Many houses on either side of the river have been abandoned, and water is running through doors and windows. Some families occupy the upper stories of their dwellings, and skiffs and [illegible] boats are used for transportation. The village of Northport across the river is almost submerged now. Water is a foot deep in the Tuscaloosa cotton factory and work had to be abandoned. Just before dark the wreck of a small house passed down the river and several persons were observed clinging to the timbers. A rescuing party in skiffs started out in pursuit from the Tuscaloosa shore and were quickly borne out of sight by the rapid current.

Many persons living in the low lands below Tuscaloosa had to be rescued from their homes in skiffs.

No calculation can yet be made of the amount of damage done to farming interests, railroads and other highways. From every place with telegraph facilities come the same reports.

FLOOD AT RICHMOND.

RICHMOND, Va., April 1.—The James river at this point has been rising steadily all day, and at 11 P. M. nearly all that portion of the city known as Rocketts was submerged to the depth of eight to ten feet. The water is still rising at the rate of six inches per hour, and it is expected it will continue to do so until 4 or 5 o'clock to-morrow. Many poor families living in Rocketts have been driven from their homes. From present indications the flood will surpass those of 1870 and 1877.

STILL RISING.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 1.—To-night at 8 o'clock the Tennessee river at this point marks 46 feet [illegible] inches on the gauge, and is rising at the rate of two inches an hour. It will reach the climax to-morrow. Several hundred families have been forced to move from the low lands. The greatest inconvenience is from the total stoppage of trains. Only one train has entered the city since Monday night.

IN MARYLAND.

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 1.—The recent heavy rains have caused the south branch of the Potomac river to rise to a greater hight than for nine years past, and the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and telegraph wires are submerged. No trains have been able to get through since early this morning. Communication with that section of country bordering on the river is entirely cut off.

FALLING AT MONTGOMERY.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 1.—The river ceased to rise at noon after reaching the highest point ever known. One thousand people, mostly colored, had to leave their homes. Rescue parties with boats have been bringing in sufferers all day. The river has fallen slightly.

THE BROADWAY STEAL.

Another Ex-Alderman Makes a Confession and is Placed Under Surveillance.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Ex-Alderman Charles B. Waite was arrested this morning by Inspector Byrne at the Grand Central depot, when the train on which the ex-alderman arrived from Essex, on Lake Champlain, arrived. Waite was not in the least disconcerted and seemed to understand the purport of the inspector's mission even before the warrant was produced and he was informed he was under arrest. An evening paper publishes an interview with Judge Gildersleeve, in which the judge says that Waite is the man who wrote the letter offering to tell all he knew about the Broadway franchise bribery.

WAITE'S STATEMENT.

The Commercial Advertiser publishes a three column interview with Waite, calling it his confession. The substance of the statement is that as a reward for his services in securing the election of Kirk as president of the board of aldermen in 1884 he was given the privilege of appointing the railroad committee. He appointed such men as he knew he could easily control and who knew "Jim" Richmond. They voted on the franchise bill just as he dictated. The ex-alderman claims that he did all this out of pure friendship for Jim Richmond, who was Jacob Sharp's right bower in the deal, and that he (Waite) never got a dollar. He mentions a number of aldermen who he thinks did receive money, but makes no positive statement. Waite finally acknowledged that his interest in getting the Broadway franchise bill through was stimulated by a promise of the fire commissionership.

ANOTHER EX-ALDERMAN ARRESTED.

Late this afternoon a detective left the city hall with a number of warrants. It was almost positively stated that they were for the arrest of the franchise aldermen of the board of 1884.

Later District Attorney Martine said he had concluded his interview with Waite; that Waite had not been arrested, and it was true that the ex-alderman had made a statement about the Broadway franchise business. What its substance was would not be told. The official could not tell what might be done in the future as to arresting Waite. The ex-alderman's statement had been very satisfactory to the district attorney. The official stated that he would remain down town to-night because important matters might turn up at any time during these tumultuous periods. It was stated by Mr. Martine that ex-Alderman Waite would be comfortably cared for to-night and that his mouth had been muzzled.

Waite went with Inspector Byrnes to police headquarters and remained there. Byrnes said Waite was not under arrest and that Waite informed him that he had given a reporter for an afternoon paper a lot of "ghost stories."

Later in the evening the detectives returned to police headquarters, having in custody ex-President James P. Kirk of the board of aldermen of 1884. Inspector Byrnes said the charge against him was bribery, but declined to give any further particulars.

GREECE'S ANGRY ATTITUDE.

The British Ministers Hastily Summoned—The Situation Very Serious.

LONDON, April 1.—After the cabinet council had adjourned this afternoon the ministers were hastily summoned together and a meeting was held in Gladstone's room in the house of commons. This second meeting is said to have been called because of the receipt of serious news from Bulgaria and Greece. Orders have been received at Devonport to have all the torpedo vessels there in readiness for sea at short notice.

IN PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, April 1.—In the house of commons, James Bryce, under foreign secretary, in answer to a question, said the government would follow the policy inaugurated by the Marquis of Salisbury in regard to Greece.

In the house of lords, Earl Rosebery, foreign minister, stated that he had understood that Russia had arranged to give orders forthwith, if they had not already been given, directing the return of the Russian fleet to Suda bay. The fleet had left Suda bay for the purpose of revictualing only, and Russia had given England most cordial assurances concerning her course in the Greek trouble.

Lord Rosebery, secretary of foreign affairs, had a long interview to-day with the Russian and Turkish ministers. The government regards the situation as at least very serious.

A THREAT BY RUSSIA.

LONDON, April 1.—It is reported that Russia has notified the powers of her intention to occupy Bulgaria in the event of Prince Alexander's final refusal to accept the governorship of Roumelia for five years only.

LONDON, April 1.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to the News says the Russian government has definitely decided to occupy Bulgaria within a few weeks unless Prince Alexander submits to the wishes of Russia.

ENGLAND.

GLADSTONE'S LAND SCHEME.

LONDON, April 1.—The cabinet to-day discussed the scheme of buying out Irish landlords. In consequence of the unfavorable attitude of the Scotch liberal association Gladstone proposed to modify his project in several particulars, but no agreement could be reached by the cabinet. It now seems probable that the project will be withdrawn.

COLLINGS RESIGNS.

LONDON, April 1.—Mr. Collings has resigned as secretary of the local government board in consequence of the action of the Ipswich court of investigation.

GERMANY.

THE POLISH BILL.

BERLIN, April 1.—The lower house of the Prussian diet to-day adopted the first clause of the Polish bill, placing 100,000,000 marks at the disposal of the government for establishing German colonies in West Prussia and Posen.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY APRIL 2, 1886.

AS TO THE LAW OF ELECTIONS.

The decision of the supreme court, which declares the registry law to be unconstitutional and void, eaves some uncertainty as to the election laws of the state. The act was something more than a mere registry law, providing, in fact, for the whole conduct of elections and superseding the old election law. The original law was enacted when our population was small and answered well enough at that time, but of late years its system has been inconvenient, particularly in Portland, where the number of voters is large. Under it there were as many precincts as polling places, making in a county like Multnomah a multitude of precinct officers whose very number has been an obstacle to the convenience and dispatch of business. The new law provided for re-districting the various counties and the [illegible] of the county court at its discretion, within the precincts, of voting districts each with its polling place. In the new law, too, there are regulations intended to facilitate the operation of voting and for the prevention of frauds. There is an express provision as to the form of tickets to be used—size, type, quality of paper, etc., and as to manner in which such tickets might be "scratched." It is provided also that no person other than those expressly authorized shall come within 100 feet of the polling place. These and other rules designed to prevent the "running in" of bogus and "doctored" tickets and to free voters from the rude surveillance of "strikers," so common at polling stands, form a complete and convenient system preferable in every way to the old system. Under the new law the various county courts have re-districted their several counties as to precincts, subdivided them into polling districts, arranged for polling places and appointed the officers of elections.

But now the question arises, does the decision of the supreme court voiding the registry clause of the new law void the entire act? If so, the old election law is probably still in force; but of this there is some doubt as the repealing clause of the new law is specific and in perfect form, and will hold good even should every other clause prove non-effective. This matter was a common subject of discussion among lawyers yesterday and there was wide difference of opinion, some holding that the judgment of the court affected only that part of the new act relating to registration leaving its other parts in full authority, others that the decision affected the whole act and left the old law as to elections in force, and others still that only the repealing clause of the new act was valid, leaving the state without any election law at all. There is some argument for each of these theories, but we have little doubt that the first is the correct one. It is provided in the state constitution that the voiding of one part of an act does not necessarily void the whole act. There is, besides, a special circumstance in this case supporting this view. The actual title of what is popularly called "the registry law" is as follows: "An act to provide for the registration of voters, regulating the manner of conducting elections, providing for the prevention and punishment of frauds affecting the elective franchise and repealing title 1, of chapter 14, of the miscellaneous laws of Oregon." This title, in a sense, divides the act into specific sections. There is no question as to the constitutionality of the section regulating elections and we believe it will be held to be valid.

As the matter stands now it rests with county courts to adopt and act upon one or another of these theories. It is expected, however, that they will be guided by the suggestions of the supreme court. Judge J. C. Moreland of this county, has applied to the court for information as to whether they considered the questions brought up since the decision was put forth and asking if it was intended to void a single clause or the whole of the law. The answer, of course, will be given to the public.

"HAD NO IDEA."

When several weeks ago a paper printed here gave its voice, and what influence it possessed to the encouragement of incendiary speech, resolutions of lawlessness and the declared intent of outrage, THE OREGONIAN pointed out the inevitable result of such a course. It stated that it was not the professional agitators who had and claimed no place in the ranks of decency that were responsible for the menace to the public peace which then existed, but the men of respectable antecedents, who gave countenance to outlawry by their open espousal of its cause. It showed, that the good name of the city would suffer, that predatory and lawless men would flock hither in the hope of the harvest that riot always prepares for them, that capital would be timid about making investment here and that general stagnation in business would be the sure result of the agitation that was being industriously pushed to the brink of riot. And, when Mayor Gates proclaimed that "It seemed high time for all good people to come out and show the disreputable outlaws that the local authorities would be sustained by the people, and that law and order must and would be maintained" THE OREGONIAN characterized the sentiment as worthy of fullest endorsement.

Unable to see beyond the narrow line of its own horizon the organ of agitation scouted all of these things, mustered its editorial force into the service of the hoodlum element to insult the mayor who had made this proclamation, and wholly unmindful of the good name of the city it thus labored to degrade, sent abroad boastful accounts of the insolence that it had nourished and championed.

Now, however, after these reports have had time to be reproduced in the East, not only returned to this city, but scattered broadcast over the country, that paper pretends to be greatly shocked and profoundly sorry that such impressions of Portland get abroad. It has at length awakened to the fact that "the effect of such advertising upon the prosperity of the city is most disastrous," and that "people who may have entertained thoughts of making their future homes in the northwest will conclude that it is not safe to come."

It forgets, evidently, in the confusion of sudden awakening, that the efforts of itself and allies to attach the attainder of riot to the city were not successful and that the local and state authorities took measures that made the plans of agitators and their sympathizers miscarry, thus proclaiming this portion of the northwest a safe place in which to live. Thanks to this action Portland did not reach the extreme of folly that was urged by those who now seek to excuse their action upon the plea of ignorance, saying: "We had no idea that the city would be advertised in Harper's Weekly as so full of disreputable outlaws as to require mass meetings of citizens to sustain the local authorities."

People who have "no idea" of anything beyond a desire to "boom" a bogus newspaper are liable to be surprised in this way.

But it is said now that there was no need of alarm, and that the purposes and intentions of the "agitators" were misrepresented. It is only necessary to say that they were taken simply at their own words, and judged by the acts that followed the words. Their congress issued a proclamation of assault upon local law and of rebellion against the United States, and it was followed up closely by a great many acts of lawlessness, outrage and violence. What was proclaimed here was just what had been proclaimed at Tacoma and Seattle. It was the same programme exactly, and it pointed to the same result. But it has been averted so far by the vigilance and energy of the authorities and of citizens. It is, however, still characteristic of the effrontery of a criminal enterprise to proclaim that, notwithstanding all its own proclamations of lawless proceedings, and all the criminal outrages that followed them, no wrong has been done and no wrong ever was intended.

The Presbyterian church property, at the corner of Washington and Third streets, one hundred feet square, sold yesterday at auction for $68,000. The lot was bought by the ladies of the church in 1861 for $1800.

We print this morning Judge Thayer's dissenting opinion. It is ably written. But any kind of pair beats ace high.

GOOD THAT MAY COME OF IT.

It is useless for the senate to continue its attacks upon the president for not making known the reasons why officials have been removed, while at the same time it refuses to let the country know what it is doing in executive session about these very cases. If secrecy should be avoided on one side it should also on the other. It is possible that the present dispute may result in breaking down an absurd custom maintained hitherto by the senate, and of bringing to light what is done in the executive sessions of that body. If so it will be a positive good. That public opinion is strongly in favor of doing away with these secret sessions cannot be doubted. Among the newspapers of the country we have noted no single exception to this demand. All the journals we have seen speak unreservedly in favor of the consideration of all nominations in open session. The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette shows that if the senate wishes to put the president at a disadvantage, it can do it so effectively in no other way. It is easy to see, it says, that if republican senators would throw the doors open when nominations are under consideration it would force the president either directly or indirectly to make known the character of the charges which led to the removal of republicans, for under the supposition of open doors, when a case came up, if the republican was a good officer, enjoying the confidence and esteem of the community in which he served, in other words, if he was a man who, under the president's announcement of the policy which would govern his removals, should have been retained, the republican senators would be ready to assert these things, and bring evidence to prove their claim. It would then be necessary to a vindication of the president that, either through democratic senators speaking for him, or by his transmitting the papers themselves to the senate, the charges against the suspended officials should be made known. This would become at once one of the necessities of the open session. At the present the injustice which individuals may suffer by the secret files of the president is fully equaled by the injustice which can be accomplished by means of the secret sessions of the senate. Republican senators have it in their power, by doing away with the one, to render the other powerless for injury.

DIGGING ITS OWN GRAVE.

The Knights of Labor, by maintaining a mammoth strike and entailing a heavy loss upon the the country without reasonable cause, have distinctly lost favor. The public might overlook the hot-headed work of a few who turned the strike into a riot, but it cannot excuse a deliberate, unreasonable course. There were many (indeed the opinion may be said to have been general) who thought that this organization was upon just principles and that it would deal with the questions between labor and capitol with judgment and justice. But, right at the beginning of what seemed an important career, the organization, by lending its authority and powers to a bad cause, has shown its incapacity for moderate and sensible action, and has forfeited public respect. When its head, who seems to be a man of good sense and address, does what all fair men must see to be proper and right, he is condemned and charged with "selling out." The men who would not obey his reasonable order to return to their duties, were ready enough in obeying the previous unreasonable order to quit work. We see in this strike the same foolish rage against property, the same tendency to avoid the wise and do the foolish thing that usually turn the bad effects of strikes upon the strikers. There was really no reason to expect better things of the organization of knights than from other organizations before it. It is made up of the same elements which from time to time have ruled and ruined former labor associations. Though in hearty and common interest always with the workers of the world, with whom we have been and always expect to be associated, we have not been at any time among those who have approved of the order of "Knights." Its weapon, the organized "boycott," we consider both improper in itself and criminal under the laws of the land; and its principle of absolute obedience to "orders," a surrender of personal independence and of American manhood.

The Chinese outrages in Washington territory within the past six months have made it necessary for congressmen, urging the admission of the territory into the Union to apologize for what they could not excuse, and ask forgetfulness instead of pardon for the outrageous proceedings. Leniency is deserved solely upon one ground. The men guilty of the flagrant acts of lawlessness do not in any manner represent the citizenship of Washington territory. Non-residents and foreigners, with but few exceptions, made up the rabble. When representative citizens appeared upon the scene a speedy check was placed upon the proceedings.

The condition of Secretary Manning, while it may not be critical, is yet sufficiently serious to warrant the belief that his days in the treasury are numbered. Speculation as to a man's successor in office, while he is fighting the battle of life or death, may be unseemly but it is nevertheless a feature of the political hunger and greed that strive for place and power. It is, of course, busy in this instance, the hopes of aspirants being based upon the supposition that even if Mr. Manning recovers he will need a long and perhaps permanent rest from work or care of the kind involved in his office.

We have a letter from a resident of this city complaining that boys from the public school make use of one of the Park blocks for a base ball field, greatly to the damage of the turf and young trees. The writer asks THE OREGONIAN to protest against what he terms an "abuse." We cannot comply. If there is any better use for a public park than as a play ground for school children we have yet to hear of it.

The river and harbor bill, as completed by the house committee, gives $250,000 for the locks at the Cascades, instead of $150,000 as hitherto reported. The total for Oregon rivers and harbors is $505,000.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

THE PRESIDENT'S CIVIL SERVICE POLICY.

NEW YORK, April 1.—An Augusta special says: The editor of the Chronicle, Patrick Walsh, who is a national democratic committeeman, has sent circulars to other members of the committee and to prominent democrats of the country, asking their views on the president's civil service policy. The replies so far received from Southern states show nearly an even division of opinion. Some of the expressions in the letters are very strong in condemning the present administration. One writer upbraids the president for trying to break up the solid South. The Chronicle concludes an editorial on this matter as follows: "Stupid and stiff-necked, and inexcusably blind are the leaders and so-called statesmen that dare not use the patronage as honorable and justifiable means of perpetuating democratic supremacy."

JUDGE THURMAN SWINDLED.

COLUMBUS, O., April 1.—Judge Thurman is the victim of a local forger, who has been securing money on notes presented to leading business men, some of which have been offered to-day and yesterday for payment. The swindle will amount to several hundred dollars. Detectives are looking for the forger, and, as nothing has been said locally about his movements, it is thought they may succeed in securing him.

THE WRECK OF THE EUROPEA.

QUOGUE, L. I., April 1.—A storm raged with terrific violence off here last night, the wind blowing a hurricane from the southwest. The steamer Europea was driven from the outer bar, where she grounded to the main beach, and now lies hard on in about eight feet of water. Immense waves broke over her all night. No one has been able to get aboard the vessel since the officers and crew were taken off yesterday.

RICH STRIKE AT DEADWOOD.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 1.—Deadwood, Dak., special to the Pioneer Press: The richest silver ore, in the largest bodies ever discovered in the United States, has been struck in the Iron Hill mine. Much of it assays 15,000 ounces to the ton. A five foot breast has been opened.

FOUR MEN DROWNED.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., April 1.—Wm. E. Robertson left Readsboro, Vt., for Searsburg this morning, with six French loggers. While crossing the bridge it gave way and the men and horses were precipitated into the river. Robertson and three of the Frenchmen were drowned.

A STATEMENT BY LA BLANCHE.

NEW YORK, April 1.—A day or two ago the Boston Herald printed a long letter, bearing the name of La Blanche, in which the decision of the referee in the recent fight between Dempsey and the "Marine" was severely criticised, and a foul claimed. La Blanche says the letter was written by his manager, Bogue, without his authority, and adds: "I have no one to find fault with but myself. I have acknowledged privately and in public that I was squarely defeated, and it would not be honorable for me to come out at this late day and contradict myself. My manager may have some grievances, but I should not be made to shoulder them." Dempsey and La Blanche hope to meet again.

COLORADO'S NEW CAPITOL.

DENVER, April 1.—The contract for building the Colorado capitol was let to-day to Wm. D. Richardson, of Chicago, for $630,485. Work will be commenced immediately.

SPEEDY TRIAL AND SENTENCE.

SUSANVILLE, April 1.—A. J. Harris, of Polk county, Oregon, was arrested last night, tried six months, and sentenced to three years in the state prison, for forgery.

ARIZONA.

GERONIMO'S TREACHERY.

TOMBSTONE, April 1.—Gen. Forsythe, commanding officer at Fort Huachuca, who arrived here to-day, made known the startling fact that at the first interview which Gen. Crook had with the hostiles on Thursday last Geronimo had a band of his men with rifles ready to fire upon all the white men, including Crook, at a given signal. Geronimo's failure to keep his promise of surrendering at Fort Bowie is ascribed to the fact that having so much blood to answer for he could expect no clemency, and therefore preferred a life in the mountains to the prospect of hanging at the hands of the authorities. The hostiles had 200 rounds of ammunition each. Forsythe said it was impossible to fathom Geronimo's intentions. It is an open question whether he will go south and join Mangus or remain and harass the frontier. Geronimo is a man about 52 years of age, able, bold, crafty, treacherous and merciless. This is the third time he has proved faithless.

No. 128 Front St.

PORTLAND, Or., April 1st, 1886.

To the Trade and our Old Friends:

On account of unavoidable litigation of the old house of E. MARTIN & CO. of Portland, Or., and to settle their affairs to the satisfaction of all concerned, it was deemed advisable to close our entire business in Portland until such time as all litigation could be settled.

Having now accomplished this, and in consideration of the large amount of patronage enjoyed in the past, and desiring to cultivate and improve on the same, also to conveniently fill all orders from this point, we have concluded to reopen our house here with a large and complete stock of all goods pertaining to a first class Liquor and Wine business.

Soliciting your patronage, we remain truly yours,

E. MARTIN & CO.,

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

COWHIDING.—About [illegible] yesterday [illegible] P. Dixon, a young railroad man employed in the office of J. H. Middleton, auditor of the O. R. & N. Co., and calling out F. [illegible] attacked him with a cowhide and [illegible] three sharp blows about the head. One was across the face, reaching from the nose to the left ear, the other across the forehead and the third on top of the head. The first two went through the skin and [illegible] [illegible] as quick as [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] which he paid. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] which a period [illegible] [illegible] said about his [illegible].

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the joker who [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Messrs. Anderson and McAndrews of Vancouver were [illegible] surveying or inspecting [illegible] and arrived at the Cascades on Tuesday last. Mr. Anderson in wishing to have a joke at the expense of the citizens of Vancouver telegraphed [illegible] "Will [illegible] down on the boat to-morrow. Will bring the body of McAndrews," or words to that effect. The news created quite a sensation in Vancouver, and various societies of which Mr. McAndrews was an honored member turned out and accompanied the hearse to the wharf to receive his remains. On the way down the river Wednesday, it appears that Mr. Anderson found out that it was the 31st of March and not the 1st of April, as he had supposed, and he was in a great stew over his blunder. On arriving at Vancouver, and the true inwardness of the joke being explained by the supposed dead man, Mr. Anderson was fain to acknowledge the "corn" and to pay the charge for the hearse and likewise to "set 'em up" for the boys, as a peace offering.

COYOTE KILLED.—R. Scott, who resides near Milwaukie, having had several lambs killed on his farm lately, determined to see what it was that was making the havoc in his flock. He placed some strychnine on the carcass of one of the slaughtered innocents and next morning was surprised to see near by an old coyote and six little coyotes as dead as mutton. These pests for some reason have been increasing in this valley of late, but only once before has one of them been seen so near this city. The scalp of the coyote will realize Mr. Scott $10, which is the bounty offered by Clackamas county for the destruction of these animals, and this sum will offset the loss of the lambs. One of Mr. Scott's cows kicked his rat terrier in the head and knocked it out of time. If he could only pass its scalp on the county clerk for a coyote he would be somewhat consoled for its loss.

FARRELL'S BIG PURCHASE.—The numerous friends of S. Farrell held a levee at his office yesterday to congratulate him on his purchase of the Presbyterian church. Some of them expressed surprise that he should make such an extensive investment after only nine months in the council. But when they took into consideration the fact that the firm supplied the feed for the street-cleaning teams they seemed no longer to wonder at the purchase, although they had not before realized that there was a bonanza in this contract. In answer to inquiries as to what he intended to do with the property Mr. Farrell said, that his partner Dick Everding, had for some time had a hankering to be a preacher. He was afraid that Dick's doctrine would [illegible] [illegible], but had finally concluded to buy a church and give the boy a chance.

WHY MAIL IS NOT EXPEDITED.—Some time ago the postal authorities here obtained permission to place city distributors on the Pacific express as an experiment. The scheme was found to work well and the mail was delivered around town about an hour earlier than before. A request that the arrangement be made permanent was forwarded to Washington, and pending the decision of the postmaster general the distributors were withdrawn from the train. This is why the mail is now being delivered on the old time. People are dissatisfied with the present arrangement after having had experience of a better one, and it is to be hoped that it may be decided to place the distributors on the trains permanently. As a very strong case was made in favor of this it is probable that the request will be granted soon.

REORGANIZED.—Silver lodge, I. O. G. T., was reorganized at Silverton with sixty-seven members, by Prof. William Crowhurst, grand lecturer. Two large, enthusiastic meetings were held in the M. E. church. The Silverton band performed both nights and was tendered a unanimous vote of thanks. Following are the lodge officers: R. C. Ramsby, L. D.; J. C. Russell, W. C. T.; Miss Dele Mascher, W. R. H. S.; Miss Nellie Porter, W. L. H. S.; Mrs. Dr. S. M. Davis, W. V. T.; John T. Hicks, W. Sec.; Miss Lida Hayes, W. A. S.; Miss Lizzie L. Mascher, W. F. S.; Mrs. Edna J. Brown, W. Treas.; L. E. Hibbard, W. M.; Minnie Baker, W. D. M.; Mrs. M. Bull, W. I. G.; Miss Ollie Mascher, W. O. G.; M. Small, W. Chap.; R. C. Ramsby, P. W. C. T.

POOR DOG TRAY.—The idea of prepared medicines for dogs is at first novel, but upon considering the value of this most faithful animal it seems the most reasonable thing in the world that specialists should have made its diseases a study, and have prepared cures for them. Our representative was particularly astonished to observe the transfer of boxes to the house of Woodward, Clarke & Co. yesterday, the marks on which indicated the use of the medicines which were intended to allay the sufferings of canines. Upon the packages were marked "Mange Cure," "Worm Killer," "Canker Ear-wash," "Flea Exterminator," and others equally as striking. The house is now well supplied with medicines of the class above described.

BODY RECOVERED.—On February 22, J. [illegible] Rosen, a young man [illegible] years of age, employed at the coal bunkers at Albina, fell off the wharf at that point into the river and was drowned. The accident was witnessed by several persons, but they were unable to save him, as in falling Rosen struck against the rail of the ship Henry Villard and was probably stunned. Yesterday Coroner Cooke was notified that Rosen's body had come to the surface, near the spot where it went down. An inquest was held and a verdict of death from accidental drowning rendered. Rosen was a native of Poland and lived with his parents at Albina. The funeral will be held to-day.

THE WALLULA HOTEL.—It is likely that the hotel at Wallula which burned a few days after [illegible] burned it up, will be rebuilt soon, but whether by the insurance companies or by the railroad company has not yet been decided. The loss has been in the hands of the adjusters of the companies ever since a week after the fire, and the latter are as yet undetermined which will be the cheaper to pay the amount of the policies or to restore the buildings. Yesterday, at the request of the insurers, complete copies of the original plans and specifications were forwarded to the [illegible] and when these shall have been examined [illegible] conclusion will soon be reached.

HELD TO ANSWER.—Ham Ah Kwan, accused of arson, in setting fire to Bridget Lavin's residence, had an examination before Justice Davis yesterday and was held to answer to the grand jury. Bonds fixed at $2,000 were immediately furnished. The evidence disclosed the fact that the fire was discovered among a lot of wood in a woodbox and a coal oil lamp was found in close proximity to it. Suspicion rests on the Chinaman, for the reason that he was the last person seen to leave the house on the evening the house was burned.

PRETTY PICTURE BOOKS.—W. H. Mead, general agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul short line, received yesterday an invoice of what the company calls "our new picture book." It contains a number of beautiful views of the Northwest. Somehow or other the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul have the faculty of getting up a little the most attractive and beautiful printed and engraved matter that comes to this port, and the new picture book is no exception to the rule.

ELECTRIC REGISTERS AND INDICATORS.—These patents of Mr. A. J. Coffee, the electrician of the fire department, which have been tested with satisfaction, are now being manufactured by Henry B. Loveridge, electrical model maker, No. [illegible] North Second street, who is thoroughly familiar with this class of work. These patents once used by our department, will soon become popular and Mr. Loveridge anticipates many orders from other places where they will be required.

KILLED BY THE CARS.—Wednesday night a switch engine in the O. R. & N. yard at Wallula Junction ran over and killed a man who was lying on the track. The coroner at Walla Walla was notified and began an inquest late yesterday afternoon. At that time the identity of the man had not been established. He was seen walking the track shortly before dark Wednesday evening and appeared to be very much intoxicated.

OPENING FOR A BLACKSMITH.—A community, six miles from this city, sends word to the state board of immigration that a good blacksmith capable of doing all kinds of work for farmers, a married man and with a very small capital, can have a splendid opening there. He can have the postoffice, can keep a small store, and do blacksmith work—a rare chance this to a good man.

BACK TO JAIL.—Several days ago Wong Ah Hong got out of the county jail after having served a sentence of 100 days for assaulting another celestial with a dangerous weapon. Yesterday Mr. Hong was found with a very large sized revolver in his pocket, and was run in for carrying a concealed weapon. He pleaded guilty in Justice Davis' court and was sent back to jail for five days.

THE STAGE

BORDERING ON THE SUPERNATURAL.

Sunday evening at the New Market theater, Anna Eva Fay and Prof. and Madam Steen will give a two-and-a-half hours entertainment. The Pekin Post, speaking of their closing performance, said: "There were numerous skeptics in the audience who were determined not to be convinced, but they are in a deep study to-day. One traveling man, in particular, who was a trifle smarter than ordinary mortals, was so thoroughly mystified that he retired from the stage in discomfiture." Miss Fay was securely tied, as on the evening previous, and the manifestations were very marked. One of her most wonderful feats is placing her hand on a [illegible] and lifting it above her head, although she is very slight and the task weakens her very much. No one knows how she does these wonderful things, and all are ready to admit their ignorance. Madame Steen described various articles among the audience, such as photographs and jewelry, and [illegible] the contents of letters. She did some remarkable things with cards while she was blindfolded, and plainly read figures on a blackboard which was behind her. Yesterday afternoon the Steens entertained press representatives at the Ashley house, and gave some very [illegible] and astounding work in the so-called [illegible]. DR. CARPENTER RESIGNS.

The Vacancy [illegible] [illegible] of the State Insane [illegible] to Dr. S. E. Joseph, A [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible] April 1.

Just previously [illegible] [illegible] framed a bill for the [illegible] which bill became a law [illegible] [illegible] session.

I was honored with the appointment of superintendent [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] complete system [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Then assisted in [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] state insane asylum was fully inaugurated [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the asylum.

The care of which has been at times of great annoyance and fatigue, and especially the last few months, preyed upon my nervous system so much that I feel that it is a duty I owe to myself to ask [illegible] [illegible] from further duties. Therefore this resignation is in your hands, and if it meets your approbation allow it to take effect on the 30th day of April, 1886.

Gentlemen: I am under many obligations and you have my sincere thanks for your courteous treatment, [illegible] advice and assistance in the management of this institution, making it an honor and credit to yours [illegible] and one that all may be proud of. And I trust that all who have been immediately instrumental in making the institution what it is will eventually secure the prize reserved for the faithful. Very respectfully, your most obedient,

H. CARPENTER.

The resignation was at once accepted and Dr. S. E. Joseph of East Portland elected to fill the vacancy. Dr. Joseph's long connection with the asylum, which under the supervision of Dr. Hawthorne makes him eminently qualified to successfully discharge the arduous duties of the position. His professional reputation, his success in business enterprises and his well known integrity give his appointment high standing.

CHURCH PROPERTY SOLD.

The First Presbyterian Corner Auctioned Yesterday for $68,000. A New Building for the Society.

The Presbyterian church property, comprising lots [illegible] and 4, in block 47, at the northwest corner of Third and Washington streets, was sold at auction yesterday for $68,000. The purchaser was S. Farrell, and the general opinion is that he made the purchase for W. S. Ladd. The price paid is a very good one. The trustees of the church have been contemplating the sale of this property for some time, as it has become so valuable, knowing that from the proceeds they could purchase as suitable a lot elsewhere, build a handsome edifice, and have a fund left which could be invested to bring in a handsome permanent income.

The property was offered for sale at auction a few years ago, but was not disposed of for some reason. There has been a standing offer of $60,000 for it, and it was not thought probable that it would bring $60,000, but as the location is for several reasons a desirable one it was run up to $68,000.

The terms of the sale are as follows: Twenty-five hundred dollars cash down and the balance in equal payments of three, six and nine months with interest at [illegible] per cent., secured by mortgage. The purchase includes both lots and the old church building. The trustees reserve everything in the house, the carpets, pews, cushions, seats, organ, heating apparatus and the bell, in fact all but just the bare building. One condition expressed is that the congregation shall be allowed the use of the church as a place in which to hold divine services for nine months from the date of sale.

The property was purchased by the ladies of the church about 35 years ago for $1800. The building, which was erected about 24 years ago, is in a very fair state of preservation, the only damage it has sustained outside of natural wear and tear was the loss of the steeple in the storm of January 9, 1880.

Work will be commenced at once on the new building at the corner of Tenth and Alder. Before the foundation can be laid it will be necessary to do a great deal of excavating, as the lots stand up twelve or fifteen feet above the established grade of the streets. It is proposed to take all the embankment away and make the foundation level with the streets. As yet the trustees have not definitely determined whether to build of brick or wood. Nor have the dimensions been settled upon. It is quite probable that the foundation will be constructed of brick or stone and the main edifice of wood.

As soon as plans and specifications can be prepared the work of construction will be commenced and pushed forward to an early completion. Six months from the commencement of the building is the time fixed for the completion of the work. By next fall it is expected the new church will be ready for dedication and occupancy.

A SWINDLER'S MOVEMENTS.

The Bogus English Lord now Masquerading at Santa Barbara as a British Columbia Doctor.

A gentleman who has just returned from Santa Barbara, Cal., states that a distinguished looking person, claiming to be a doctor from British Columbia, is cutting a very wide swath there and is proving himself a regular lady killer. From the appearance of this masher and his style it seems probable that he is the self-styled English nobleman who passed through here a few weeks since, and who, after swindling a brother Englishman in Southern Oregon out of several hundred dollars, and imposing on several gentlemen here, skipped to British Columbia, where he was about to marry an estimable young lady, when his schemes were foiled by the arrival of THE OREGONIAN with a description of him and an account of his doings here. Not long since he wrote to his creditors here, asking that they inform him through the columns of THE OREGONIAN of March [illegible] of the amount of his indebtedness, intimating that the same would be speedily paid. It looks as if under cover of thus advertising himself as in British Columbia he has skipped away on the steamer from Victoria and is now basking in the smiles of [illegible] [illegible] at Santa Barbara. In order that people there may not be imposed upon by a swindler they are furnished with his description, which is as follows:

He is six feet and half an inch in height, broad shoulders, broad hips, weighs about 190 pounds, [illegible] brown eyes, light brown mutton chop whiskers, slight mustache, long, straight nose, uses spectacles occasionally, probably as a disguise, has the manners and breeding of a gentleman, is well educated, possesses considerable knowledge of medicine, and sometimes poses as a doctor. His appearance and manners are calculated to deceive the most observant. He registered here as T. C. Dunbar and claimed to be an earl.

If the party from British Columbia who is [illegible] [illegible] at Santa Barbara answers the above description he is an unmitigated fraud and swindler. He was known in San Francisco as Sir Edward Douglas, and swindled several persons there.

A CARD FROM QUIMBY.

PORTLAND, April 1.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

My attention has been called to an article published in the Sunday Welcome of March 28 entitled "A libelous circular," which casts an infamous slur upon myself and is designed to injure the business of my house.

The instigator of the statements made seems to be the proprietor of a hotel, who is by no means in my way, but who appears to fancy himself in that position. I have been in the hotel business in Portland for eighteen years and have been a taxpayer during that period, never having found it necessary to convey my property to my wife in order to defraud my creditors out of their just dues. Both the resident and traveling public know me and my manner of transacting business, and I am willing to submit to them whether I have or have not dealt fairly with them all. My prices are advertised and they are never deviated from. The article in question states that I was not long ago charged with having bribed a hoodlum to set fire to a hotel, but that I was vindicated by a left handed so-called "Scotch verdict of not proven."

Every citizen of Portland knows that the charge made against me by the young vagabond was so transparently false that the case was dismissed without even the form of an investigation. What could have been the motive of the paper which gave currency to this vindictive slash at me I am unable to conceive. But it is as innoxious as it is spiteful. The character of the Quimby house is above the reach of the villainous venom of its so called "rival," either oral or voiced through the medium of the press. An intelligent public cannot be deceived by libelous statements which are the last resort of the maudlin manager of a bankrupt business.

THE EAST SIDE.

Annual Ball of Locomotive Firemen—An Insane Woman—A Footpad Punished—General and Personal Notes.

The second annual ball of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers took place last evening at Armory hall, and was attended by about seventy-five couples. The occasion was a most pleasant [illegible] enjoyable one in every particular. The various committees having the matter in charge were as follows: Arrangements—H. W. Hall, J. [illegible] Clark, [illegible] [illegible]; Reception—J. C. Smith, E. W. [illegible], H. W. Hall; Floor—J. E. Mohan, J. O'Neil, W. Hays.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Mr. H. Lock, employed upon Hon. M. C. George's place near Sullivan Springs, was so unfortunate the first of the week as to seriously sprain his right shoulder. Not deeming the matter of sufficient importance to summon medical aid, Mr. Lock resorted to the application of house hold remedies until to-day, when he sought the assistance of Dr. Day Rafferty, who bandaged the wounded member and relieved the sufferer.

INSANE.

A sad case of sudden insanity occurred yesterday morning near East Portland. Mrs. Nathan Cohen, who lives with her husband and family on the Asylum road near this city, became within a few hours violently insane. Mrs. Cohen has for some time past evinced signs of mental weakness and of course her friends were not unprepared for this abrupt change. Dr. C. H. Rafferty attended the unfortunate lady and recommended her immediate removal to the insane asylum. So violent and murderous did she become that it was with difficulty that she was removed to the county jail for examination by the commissioner. Mrs. Cohen is the mother of five children, who certainly have the sympathy of the entire community in their sore affliction.

NOTES.

Regular meeting of the Republican club this evening at 8 o'clock.

The son of Charles Cox, residing in Holladay's addition, is afflicted with cancer of the mouth and is in a very critical condition.

A special meeting of the board of fire delegates was held last evening. Business of minor importance only was transacted.

Messrs. Paquet and Smith are constructing a mammoth land pile driver for use on their bridge contracts on the narrow gauge railway.

The ferry boat Daisy Andrus is being overhauled and newly painted. In the meantime Albina No. [illegible] is running upon the Jefferson street line.

The Jefferson street ferry company are widening the plank roadway at the foot of U street to double its former width—a much needed improvement.

East Portland looked gorgeous last night with her new street lamps—that is, certain portions did, other portions rather inclined to cimmerian gloom.

D. T. Lawton, purser of the steamer Toledo, has returned after an absence of two weeks in Southern Oregon. He reports his health much benefited by the trip.

Two spirited revivals are in progress in East Portland—at the Baptist church, on the corner of Seventh and G streets, and at the First Congregational church in Holladay's addition. Both meetings will be held each evening of the week except Saturday. The public are invited to attend.

GOOD INDICATION.

PORTLAND, April 1.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The sale of the property of the First Presbyterian church at auction to-day for $68,000 can only be regarded as an indication that faith in the future of Portland is unshaken, even in the minds of our leading capitalists, who are often charged with being preternaturally diffident and slow. The price for the times can only be regarded as eminently satisfactory. The competition was live and earnest, and so far as I could judge, no fictitious bid was made. The former attempted sale (in what was known as booming times), which I watched with great interest, I think had no genuine higher bidder. The property, no doubt, has a great future, but that such a sale at auction is possible in these times in Portland, is the most hopeful sign I have seen in a year.

THAYER'S DISSENT.

An Able Argument, both for the Need of a Registry Law

And for the Validity of the Act Passed at the Recent Session of the Legislature

Eugene D. White, appellant, vs J C Moreland County Judge, et al, respondents appeal from Multnomah county, John M Gearin, district attorney, and Joseph Simon for respondents W D Fenton, T A McBride and John Burnett for appellant. Filed March 31 Thayer J dissenting

The appellant filed a complaint in the court below to restrain the respondents, as county judge or commissioners of said county, from auditing and allowing certain bills against their county incurred in the execution of the law known as the registry law, claiming that said law was unconstitutional and that unless unrestrained the respondent would audit and allow claims to the amount of several hundred dollars of such bills The complaint alleged that the appellant was a citizen of and a legal voter and taxpayer in said county and state and that the execution of said law, as threatened by the respondents would prove of great injury to the public and to the appellant. The respondents filed a demurrer to the complaint which was pro forma sustained by the court and the appeal is taken from the decision thereon

It is apparent that the suit was begun for the purpose of obtaining the opinion of this court as to the validity of said law Counsel upon both sides seemed to be conscious at the hearing that the court might view the matter in that light and were particular to insist that the court had full cognizance of the case, but it seems to me that in any attempt to consider its constitutionality under these proceedings our determination would be extra judicial This court ought not to pass upon so important a question unless the litigation is genuine and the plaintiff in the suit shows by his allegations that he has a right to have it decided He should allege facts showing that he was liable to suffer a special injury, and that he was entitled to invoke an equitable remedy to prevent it The question of the legality of the act known as the "Registry Law," is of great importance to the people of the state, yet I cannot reconcile myself to the notion that we should undertake to determine it unless a proper case is presented for our consideration I cannot perceive that the appellant has any standing to raise the question He is one of the public, it is true, and a taxpayer but the execution of the act referred to will not affect him any more than any other taxpayer If he wants to test the legality of it he can do so probably by neglecting to register in accordance with its provisions and offering his vote on election day then if the judges refuse to receive his vote, he can maintain an action against them for such refusal provided the registration act is unconstitutional Whether it is unconstitutional or not depends upon whether it is inconsistent with the privileges secured by the constitution to the citizens. The constitution of the state provides fully the qualifications for voters

"In all elections not otherwise provided for by this constitution every male citizen of the United States, of the age of 21 years and upwards who shall have resided in the state during the six months immediately preceding such election and every male of foreign birth of the age of 21 years and upwards, who shall have resided in this state during the six months immediately preceding such election, conformably to the laws of the United States on the subject of naturalization shall be entitled to vote at all elections authorized by law "

Section 2, Article 1 Const. And Sec 17 Art 2 of that instrument provide where they shall vote viz In the election precinct in the county in which they may reside, for county officers, and in any county in the state for state officers or in any county of a congressional district in which such elector may reside, for members of congress " The legislature cannot add any other or different qualification than these. But it is required to enact laws to support the privilege of free suffrage, proscribe the manner of regulating and conducting elections and prohibit under adequate penalties, all undue influence therein, from power, bribery, tumult and other improper conduct Sec. 8, Art. 2, Const. And counsel for the appellant makes no question in this case but that the legislature has the right to adopt a registry law for the purpose of ascertaining the qualifications of persons claiming the right to vote but they object to this act or acts (there are three or four of them including amendments) for the following reasons (1) The act impairs the right of suffrage (2) The act is unreasonable exercise of the powers to regulate the elective franchise (3) The act destroys the right of suffrage, and absolutely denies the right to an unknown number of legal voters (4) The act provides for and requires political tests as qualifications for the officers who execute the law (5) The act prohibits any elector from voting any ballot except one obtained from a committee of a political party; and punishes in effect the independent or non partisan voter (6) The act in effect prohibits the supervisory control over congressional elections provided for by sections 2005 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014 2016, 2017, 2018 2019, 2020 etc revised statutes U S, and in effect denies to citizens of the United States privileges and immunities conferred by these laws The attempt to adopt any laws upon this subject seems to have been attended by a series of blunders The main act which was approved February 26 1885 provided for holding a general election on the first Monday of June 1885, and made it the duty of the judges and clerks of the election to meet at the usual places of voting in their precinct on the first Monday in March preceding each general election, for the purpose of registering "votes" in said precinct It was afterwards discovered that the general election could not be had until the first Monday in June of 1886. A special session of the legislature was convened to correct it, and for other purposes, and an amendment, approved November 24, 1885, was adopted to cure the error Subsequently the legislature adopted another amendment approved November 25, 1885 in which it was provided that the judges and clerks of election should meet on the first Monday of April preceding each general election for the purpose of registering "votes," and amended the original act in other particulars. Thereafter, and on the 30th of November, 1885 the legislature adopted a sort of supplemental act, entitled An act for a uniform system of books and certificates to be used in the registration of voters at elections as laid down in an act entitled " etc including the title of the original act, approved February 1885 which contained rules and instructions for judges and clerks of election but in providing therefor it was provided that on the first Monday in March preceding each general election the judges and clerks should meet for the registration of voters. This provision, however related to the instruction that should be contained in a certain book called The Precinct Register By a close inspection of the act it will I think be discovered that the legislature did not intend to change the time for the meeting of the judges and clerks back to the first Monday of March but it provided an instruction which would require them to meet at the latter time. It was evidently a mistake in that respect The intention of the legislature no doubt, was to have the instruction conform to the act as amended November 25 1885 It is a misfortune that the effort to adopt so commendable a law should have been attended with so many mishaps as they tend very much to prejudice it with the community and deprive it of that support so essential to the maintenance of legislative enactments The main grounds upon which the act is claimed to be unconstitutional are, that the length of time allowed voters in which to register is unreasonably short, and that there is no provision for allowing voters to vote for state officers and members of congress outside of the precinct in which they reside The amended act of November 25, 1885, provides that the judges of election shall organize by electing one of their number as chairman that they shall meet at 9 o clock in the forenoon and continue until 5 o clock in the afternoon that they may adjourn one hour at noon that they shall continue said session for three days. Section 13 of the original act provides that in case of sickness or absence from the precinct, etc of any qualified elector during the time the judges are sitting to register voters such elector may apply to the chairman of the board of judges, and on making satisfactory proof that the said applicant is a qualified voter of said precinct, and that said applicant was sick or necessarily absent from said precinct during the time said board was sitting to register voters, the said chairman may register the name of the applicant on the register in his possession, and issue to him the regular certificate but such application by section 14 of the act as amended, can not be made after the 25th day of April preceding the general election It is contended that the regulation is not reasonable because the right to register is not continued until the day of the election I suppose the legislature deemed the three days' session of the board as sufficiently long to enable the voters in the precinct to register and that the provision for those who were sick or absent therefrom as ample time to enable them to do so and conceding that the legislature has the right to require such registration prior to the time of the election it has the right to judge as to what would be a reasonable time for the purpose Whether it has judged correctly or not will be ascertained by the practical working of the law

A person would naturally suppose that the voters of a precinct could all register in three days as well as vote in one They certainly would do so if they attached that importance to the elective franchise that good citizens should This law will doubtless subject many citizens to considerable inconvenience but they had much better submit to that than have their voice stifled by the admission to the privilege of a horde of lawless mercenaries and repeaters. The citizen's duty is not fully discharged when he has deposited his ballot he should attend to it that no spurious or illegal vote counteracting the effect of his own be cast Elections are not a travesty where every vagabond may vote without restraint It is no privilege to vote when any irresponsible wretch can be imported to vote, or hired to repeat his vote Elections may as well be turned over to the hoodlum element of the community to manage and control if citizens are unwilling and refuse to submit to the inconvenience a registry law imposes The reasoning of the court in Daggett vs Hudson 3 N E Reporter is to my mind is puerile It is to the effect that the legislature may adopt a registry act but must not incommode the legal voter The steamboat man the student and the commercial traveler must not be required to attend and have his name registered as a voter prior to the time of exercising the right to vote, for the reason, in effect, that the steamboat might lose a trip the student a lesson and the commercial traveler the opportunity of making a sale of merchandise to a customer, the consequences of which, according to such logic would outweigh the necessity of preserving the purity of the ballot box and the efficiency of government If any one is able to discover a hardship in requiring a citizen to attend once in two years at the polling place in the precinct where he resides to be registered as a voter, and that a regulation is unreasonable which requires him to do that as a prerequisite to his voting at an election, in order to prevent fraudulent voting and elections from becoming a farce, he is exceedingly critical. That it is an inconvenience no one will deny, but who would not endure that in preference to having elections at which persons are selected to administer the affairs of the government made a mockery and be the subject of ridicule. The claim that the right to register should be continued down to the day of voting in order to make the regulation reasonable, would destroy the whole efficiency of it. There is an object and purpose in such a law It is intended to prevent illegal voting This cannot be accomplished unless the names of voters are enrolled a length of time before the election, so that they can be inspected and it be ascertained whether they have the requisite qualifications or not If it is left until the day of election when they can rush in "pell mell" and roll under their tongue "as a sweet morsel" a false oath regarding their qualifications as an elector, it would be an idle, useless performance and the community would be as well off without it There are some provisions in the act which require construction The form of oath when a voter is challenged should be adapted to the circumstances under which the vote is offered. The legislature did not evidently intend that the voter should swear that he was a resident of the county and precinct where he offered his vote when he only proposes to vote for state officers or congressman and the requirement that he has been for the last ninety days an actual resident of the county cannot be enforced [illegible] The constitution makes no provision that [illegible] voter should have been a resident of the county for the ninety days It requires that he shall vote in the election precinct in the county in which he resides for county officers. This ninety day [illegible] however was in the old law and the legislature has continued it in this It is an extra requirement that can not be enforced but does not affect the validity of the new law any more than it did the old one Counsel for the appellant [illegible] to him [illegible] there were many new features in the law that would operate oppressively But I fail to discover how they are liable to with a fair and intelligent administration of its provisions It has just come from the hands of the legislature has not been tried nor should thus early be condemned If the people will take hold of it as patriotic citizens ought to, of a measure that so vitally concerns their welfare it will I believe be found to be a great [illegible] The system of fraudulent voting that has been inaugurated in some parts of this state and effects every part of it is as certain to retard and ruin its prosperity as [illegible] certain to result in misery It is the violation of the moral law and that it will be [illegible] with fearful consequences is as [illegible] the violation of the organic law is to produce disease and death The appellant has [illegible] to impose upon the court a very delicate duty He asks the court to determine that [illegible] branch of the government [illegible] This ought never to be done unless [illegible] has clearly overstepped its authority It would certainly present an anomalous condition of affairs if the relief sought here [illegible] by the people [illegible] branch of the government [illegible] in February, 1885 and [illegible] a form of law to ascertain the qualifications of persons claiming to be electors and requiring the names of those [illegible] registered and a certificate issued [illegible] The act is duly approved by the governor of the state but it is subsequently observed at [illegible] error [illegible] in [illegible] The legislature [illegible] convened and proceed [illegible] to amend [illegible] The amendments are also approved by the governor and [illegible] among the laws of the state

But before the time has arrived for the execution of any of its material provisions and before the ink with which it was written has fairly dried, parties rush into court to have it nullified The courts have important functions to perform but they are not autocratic tribunals They have no authority to say to the people that they shall not have the benefit of a law their representatives have made for them, presumably in accordance with their wishes Courts are instituted to administer the law not to make it They may question its validity when it infringes upon the rights of a person which they are called upon in a suitable proceeding to protect The legality of any enactment may be drawn in question incidentally but it would be highly improper for them to attempt to exercise a veto power upon legislative proceedings That would be as unconstitutional as the legislative enactment could possibly be In Patterson vs Barlow 10 Pa St 54 a similar question was brought before that court by a suit similar to the one in this case Judge Agnew in delivering the opinion of the court, said that the defendants denied the standing of the plaintiffs as proper parties and the jurisdiction of the court over the subject but that in view of the danger of the peace and quiet of the people if the constitutionality of the law should be left in uncertainty the court would pass by the question of standing and jurisdiction in order to reach the all important one upon the validity of the law The learned judge suggested however that in passing them by the court did not mean it to be inferred that it had not grave doubts of the right of the plaintiffs to represent the public and of its own jurisdiction to enjoin a [illegible] of the political system of the state in its entire scope because of the invalidity of some of its provisions That the court doubted the right of the plaintiffs to call for an injunction beyond that portion of the law which they as private citizens could show to be injurious to their own rights and that it was more than doubtful how far as private citizens they could impugn the law in its public aspects and ask the court to restrain its execution on [illegible] grounds that the system there referred to was the only one to regulate the elections intended by the legislature to be left in force all laws supplied by it and all inconsistent with it being expressly repealed It was further suggested that if the courts as a court of equity, could lay its hands on the whole system because of the illegality of some of its parts it could on the eve of any election arrest the entire political machinery of the commonwealth which is set in motion by a general election In view of the said suggestions the opinion of the court regarding the merits of the case must have been obiter dicta and which necessarily will be the character of any opinion as to the validity of the act in question we may express in this case There is no party before the court who has the right to require us to determine as to its validity What relief could a court of equity grant the appellant in his suit? What "bills" would it interdict the county court from auditing? What restraint could it place upon that tribunal What functions would it decree should not be exercised by the county judge and commissioners sitting to transact county business? Should it say to them that a certain enactment of the legislative assembly was void and inhibit them from administering its provisions? A common law writ of prohibition could not have been used for any such purpose It could only be resorted to against judicial encroachments It lay to prevent inferior courts from exceeding their jurisdiction An injunction may be granted to restrain the unlawful acts of public officers when they would produce irreparable injury or create a cloud upon title or when such remedy is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of suits Upon those grounds the imposition or enforcement of illegal taxes may be enjoined at the suit of a taxpayer [illegible] the parties [illegible] directly affected The [illegible] of the act [illegible] a charge upon the school laws highway laws laws incorporating towns and police laws, generally have the effect to create a public expense But whoever supposed that a party because he was liable to be affected thereby could have the officers charged with the execution of such laws enjoined from enforcing their provisions upon the ground of their supposed invalidity If such a rule is to obtain it ought to be extended far enough to include the legislature itself I am of the opinion that the registry act in question is not unconstitutional, that the legislature has power to provide the mode it has in order to ascertain who are qualified electors under the constitution and—and that the provisions of the act are not so unreasonable as necessarily to deprive voters from the exercise of the right of suffrage but I do not consider my opinion in the case in the condition it is before the court as any more authoritative than if it were delivered on the street informally I do not believe that a citizen at large can require the courts to inquire into the constitutionality of a legislative enactment until he is hurt by it, or that there is imminent danger of his receiving special injury from its threatened enforcement

The complaint herein should be dismissed

MOUNT HOOD'S SMOKE

PORTLAND April 1 1886

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I was intending to show that several times when people have thought Mount Hood was smoking it was proved, on close observation, that it was vapor that condensed upon the mountain or poured up the great ravines and off the summit A light cloud of vapor bears no resemblance to the pitchy, sulphurous cloud that issues from the crater, which is not on the summit nor near it. Several who have ascended the mountain say that on the southwest, a mile below the summit, they crossed a crater piled full of loose rocks that were so hot from the constantly rising sulphurous heat that it is hardly possible to hold the hand upon them Further the escaping gases they inhaled when crossing this crater were so very offensive as to make some quite sick from breathing them That is, there is a constant exhalation from this crater and there are times when denser smoke pours off and makes a cloud that drifts the mountain My observation about 1861 was in the winter [illegible] It was a beautiful clear day, when the wind was decidedly from the north Occasional bits of fleecy cloud would sweep past the mountain but this long, narrow strip of pitchy cloud distinctly poured from the [illegible] where this crater is located by all climbers It [illegible] out like a banner toward the north while the lower wind was distinctly from the north I saw this for half the afternoon and no longer It disappeared after a three hours' eruption. About ten years later I witnessed a similar phenomenon of the issuing of smoke but have often seen what Mr Sloane so well described [illegible]

Some years ago John Muir, the distinguished naturalist he was a great naturalist [illegible] described [illegible] in some magazine (perhaps it was [illegible]) phenomenon of cloud banners in the Sierras of California and as your correspondent does in part I think this was by Muir (if not it was Clarence King) The vapors that rise from the ravines and pour off the great peaks are all light colored Once to see actual smoke will show such a difference that the observer never can mistake again But all such phenomena possess so much interest that it is well worth all the trouble we take of describing them and speculating concerning them

WHEAT Arrivals for the past week have been [illegible] valley and 2074 tons Walla Walla a total of 412 tons against 4027 tons the preceding week and 2890 tons the same week last year The movement maintains good proportions although trade is quiet Exports for March were unprecedentedly heavy especially foreign A statement will be presented in a day or two The foreign markets during the week have ruled easy but close in an apparently better shape They have lost no bits in the way of statistical conditions and the reasons for the present depression are substantially as before mentioned By late European mails the bull side of the market is found to be gaining far more of a place in certain publications than would have been thought possible to judge from the tenor of their arguments three months ago Notably among them is the London Miller which now makes a serious plea for state granaries It says wheat is cheap England depends very largely for food on imported wheat than in case of war a few "Alabamas" (happy comparison) could starve out the kingdom Why not then it is argued take a "year of plenty" and stock up national granaries with wheat sufficient for a year's need On change this plan excites laughter The London correspondent of the Northwestern Miller, under date of March 15, thinks nothing excessive in the way of any advance in prices is to be expected There is room for a return to the [illegible] to 40s level before the new crop is safe There is enough wheat to supply all wants up to August but this will have largely to be taken from granaried stocks which by August will be reduced to a point such as only a 40s level would justify Quite a fair amount of speculative buying has been going on during the past two weeks at prices of most qualities have gradually crept up about 1s Russian wheats are getting so scarce that on some of the lower sorts there is an improvement of 4s to 5s from the lowest point Russian wheat for shipment is scanty and the advices received this week from that country confirm previous accounts of exhaustion of stocks in the interior and state that higher prices will be necessary if what is available for export is to be obtained The Indian wheat crop is some 20 000 000 bushels less than last year and as in the past season India has only been able to export 8 000 000 bushels and has been hardly pushed to reach that amount, it is tolerably safe to predict that, with the present smaller crop, that amount will not be exceeded in the present season

The local market for the week ruled quiet and but a fair amount of business was done although the movement was free With regard to export March was an active month [illegible] tons register clearing with wheat and [illegible] with flour For the valley grade buyers limits out are $1 [illegible], with a sale noted at $1 [illegible] which figure is claimed by all to be the extreme even for round lots of choice There is certainly nothing to justify quoting more Walla Walla grades are reported as in no sale on spot with next to nothing done in the interior Nominally $1 [illegible] is quoted To-day's market abroad are steady and in evident better feeling than during the first days of the week New York and Chicago rule weak while San Francisco values are firm because of light offerings and a very fair shipping request Here present and near by needs are really unimportant and buyers like hold more because they believe prices to be low enough to justify buying at this time rather than risk the future

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK April 1 Government bonds were dull and firm The stock market continues quiet and irregular The feature of to-day's operations was a further advance in transcontinental stocks, due at first to buying by inside parties, who had information of the fact that a meeting of representatives of the transcontinental companies was to be held in this city to-day Later it became known that the meeting was in progress but the result was not known before the close of the board However Union Pacific which opened at 49 [illegible] rose during the forenoon to [illegible] After midday there was a break to 48 and another rally to 49 [illegible] finally closing at [illegible] Pacific Mail shows an advance of 1¾ Union Pacific was the most active loan on the list Southern Pacific sold at the highest price it has reached since it was listed [illegible] and closed with an advance of 1¼ On the other hand the rest of stocks were only steady Vanderbilts held their own but were dull and otherwise featureless In the dealings the market showed a decided feverishness and irregularity for the more active stocks and closed feverish and irregular

LINN COUNTY INSTITUTE.

SECOND DAY—MORNING SESSION

The institute was opened at the appointed hour by prayer by Rev Brownson

Messrs T J Stites S B Train and M A Miller were appointed reporting secretaries, and G F Sutherland J Love and the Misses Ollie Kilpatrick and Mary Irvine enrolling secretaries

The programme for work was opened by Prof McElroy upon the subject of Organization The subject of "The Teacher's Consecration to his Work" was introduced by Rev Brownson in a very able manner He dwelt at length upon the duty and power of teachers to mold and shape the characters of the pupils and for that purpose the entire consecration to the work by the teacher is essential The practice of making the teacher's occupation a transitory one was condemned and the speaker endeavored to show that the teacher who is fully consecrated to his work is constantly advancing himself in culture and improving in methods

County Superintendent Reid then asked Prof McElroy as to the legality of holding county institutes The answer was that the law only required state and district institutes but that county institutes were urged as being essential and were believed to be productive of much good Prof Walker suggested that a request be made to the legislature to declare the county institutes legal

Prof McElroy introduced the subject of Manners in School and illustrated it by illustrations upon the blackboard after which Prof. Hughes presented the subject of Credit Marks and Roll of Honor in a plain practical way This subject was discussed [illegible] by a number of teachers until the noon hour adjourned

The afternoon session was occupied upon the subject of Prizes in School The discussion was entered into with interest by quite a number of teachers and it was the general impression that the upholders of giving prizes in primary classes had the upper hand [illegible] the discussion

The Relation of Teachers to the Public Schools was introduced by W A Kelsay and that of How to Secure and Maintain Order in the Public Schools was presented by Mr M A Miller He thought that the fewer rules laid down the better [illegible] the school by kindness

A mathematical problem was then given the teachers of the institute by an Albany business man and considerable interest was taken in its solution After which the institute adjourned until 8 o clock P M

Prof Walker and Miss Ida Robertson were elected to answer queries in the question box

The evening exercises were occupied exclusively by recitations music etc, and a most interesting lecture by President Stanley upon the subject of Man and His Development

AN INHUMAN PERSECUTION

From the Spirit of Missions (New York)

There are encouraging signs of a reaction on the Pacific coast against the cruel and utterly un Christian and un American persecution of the Chinese In California where the spirit of persecution first arose, the promise of reaction is earnest Now that the tide is beginning to turn Christian men everywhere ought to assert their principles and their power, and do their utmost to stamp out this iniquitous persecution They have every [illegible] to expect success in time for brute force cannot long resist the force of organized Christian principle

Especially ought the friends of Christian missions to China to oppose this inhuman crusade on the part of some of the worst elements of our foreign born and unnaturalized population before it results in the retaliatory overthrow of Christian missions in China. Already tidings come of an American man of war in Chinese waters summoned to protect American missionaries in a port of China All who will assert the principles of Christian justice and American statesmanship in this matter will have the support of Christian citizens and of the religious and the intelligent secular press Who in our own church will arise as a prophet and lift up his voice against this unrighteous persecution of an industrious and peaceable class of heathen who have come to our Christian shores

That Tired Feeling

Everybody knows what "that tired feeling" is. It afflicts nearly every one at this time of year, being caused by the depressing effects of the changing season and the debilitated condition of the body The refreshing toning and invigorating influences for which the system appeals will be found in Hood's Sarsaparilla the reliable tonic and blood purifier. Give it a trial

I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla when I was so weak I could not do my work It has made a new person of me All I ask of any one is to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and see its good effect It takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of I would not be without it Mrs C A M Hubbard North Chili N Y

Strength and Appetite.

I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla with such benefit as to astonish my friends I have renewed my strength my appetite is good my cough is growing better I feel like a different person Mrs A F Proctor Marblehead Mass

I could not sleep and in the morning had hardly life enough to get out of bed I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I soon began to sleep soundly could get up without that tired and languid feeling and my appetite improved

Contagious!

I am a native of England and while I was in that country I contracted a terrible blood poison, and for two years was under treatment as an out door patient at Nottingham Hospital England, but was not cured I suffered the most agonizing pains in my bones, and was covered with sores all over my body and limbs. Finally I completely lost all hope in that country and sailed for America, and was treated at Roosevelt in this city, as well as by a prominent physician in New York having no connection with the hospitals.

I saw the advertisement of Swift's Specific, and I determined to give it a trial. I took six bottles and I can say with great joy that they have cured me entirely I am as sound and well as I ever was in my life L FRED HALFORD

New York City June 12th, 1885

In March of last year (1884) I contracted blood poison and being in Savannah Ga at the time, I went into the hospital there for treatment. I suffered very much from rheumatism at the same time. I did not get well under the treatment there nor was I cured in any of the usual means. I have now taken seven bottles of Swift's Specific and am sound and well It drove the poison out through the boils on the skin
